

Rhodonite is a stone of patience. It helps us to see both sides of an issue. Use rhodonite to help calm you when you feel impatient or panic. It is a very supportive stone that works with the Heart Chakra to attract love. It promotes the discovery of new talents to be able to achieve the highest potential.

Rose Quartz is the Love stone that opens the heart and increases self acceptance. It soothes heartaches and brings peace, compassion and kindness. It teaches us how to experience unconditional love for ourselves and for all others. It heals hurt, calms and reassures.

Rutilated Quartz improves self-esteem and enhances our mental and physical stability. It helps us get to the root of a problem and eases decision-making. It is a 3rd eye and consciousness opener, great for astral travel and accelerating expansion.

Selenite is a cleansing stone that clears negative energies, and can be used to clear other stones. Put it in the corners of a room to create a safe space. It is a stone of mental clarity. It aids in contact with spiritual guides and in accessing past/future lives. Don't put in water.

Smoky Quartz emits a high level of energy, yet it functions slowly and gently. It helps ground you with Earth energies and is good for relieving fear and depression. It absorbs negativity from people and environments and is great to place on a computer monitor.

Sodalite is a Divine Masculine stone that brings inner peace and harmonious communications. It fosters knowledge of the sacred laws of the universe. It also eliminates confusion, promotes logic, efficiency, truthfulness and enhances group communication.

Sugilite, known as "The Healer's Stone", is said to enhance one's healing and psychic abilities and dream work. It is also believed, by some, to lessen learning disabilities like dyslexia, and to help with more serious disorders such as schizophrenia and autism.

Tiger Eye is a powerful Solar Plexus Chakra stone strengthening our willpower. It is earthy and grounding thus helpful in manifesting ideas into reality. It shows the correct use of personal power and gives optimism and insight in recognizing inner resources.

Black Tourmaline offers a strong protective field which assists in deflecting disharmonious energies. It can be a supportive ally helping sensitive beings, instilling self-confidence and balance. It deflects and repels negative energy, especially psychic attack.

Black Tourmaline in Quartz creates a powerful ally in one's spiritual growth, at the same time helping to avoid that out-of-touch sensation that can result from being too focused on higher pursuits. It helps one to avoid picking up negative vibrations from the environment or other people.

Turquoise is great for the Throat Chakra, to foster honest and clear communication from the heart. It enhances intuition and the link between the physical and spiritual realms. It unites the energy of the earth and sky, healing the spirit, and unites male and female, healing the whole body. It enhances the physical and psychic immune system.

Unakite stimulates the healing of the soul. It helps us awaken the higher self, get rid of pent-up emotions, and discern favorable relationships. It is often used to treat the reproductive system, release weight gain, and aid healthy pregnancy.

CRYSTAL DESCRIPTIONS

This brochure lists our most popular crystals along with a description of their common uses. Crystals have a lattice structure and hold a very stable vibration. When crystals are around us we resonate with their frequencies, helping to restore balance in our energy field. Each crystal holds its own vibration and affects us in different ways, and there are varying opinions on how each one works. We're presenting a collection of their uses which people have discovered over time, but they are not intended to be a substitute for traditional medical care. Enjoy exploring the world of crystals and find out for yourself how your life is changed by them!
